Russia's Opportunity

[From the N Y Times]

Whatever result may be reached by the Conference summoned to adjudicate the right of Russia to do as she pleases with respect to the Paris Treaty, which rounded off the Crimean struggle, there can be but little doubt that the Czar is determined upon his course. Nor is it surprising that he should take independent ground upon this important point at a time when the boldest assumptions can be safely put forth. That which Russian policy and diplomacy had entertained constantly for the half century previous to the Crimean War, but which was then obliged to give way before the united opposition of England and France Sardinia and Turkey, is now a matter of comparatively easy accomplishment.

The Franco Prussian War not only engrosses the attention of those two nations but, even when closed, will leave neither of them in a position to fight other people's battles. England is not particularly in a war like mood, nor is Mr Gladstone much of a Pitt in the line of aggressive administration. Austria, naturally, will not care to take a hand in a game she does not understand too well, nor is she anxious to incur the wrath of Russia by meddling in matters which she cannot realize as being any concern of hers. Italy has her own little house to put in order, by way of settling herself for comfortable house keeping. And Turkey, finally, without all this help will prove much more of a "sick man" than when held up in the supporting arms of her allies sixteen years ago.

And, even if an allied force, composed of military materiel equal to that then brought against Nicholas, could now be gathered the position of Russia has so greatly altered that a new war might result to her advantage and bring ruinous consequences to the rest of Europe. Confessedly, the Cossack defeat of 1855 was directly traceable to causes which now no longer exist. In a pamphlet published by Count Krasinski in London, in 1854, this sentence occurs:

The great mistake which Russia committed in the pursuit of her schemes of aggrandizement—that which, as present events seem to prove, has rendered her power more apparent than real,—is, I believe, that instead of preparing for her external increase by the development of her internal resources, she commenced by the former instead of the latter; or, to use a homely expression, she began at the wrong end. Hence the weakness of her position in many conquered provinces the inefficiency of her naval armaments, and the wretched state of her internal administration. These premature external developments of Russia may be not inaptly compared to the parasite offshoots of a tree, which, absorbing its sap, prevent the tree from acquiring a vigorous growth, and are usually on this account lopped off by the gardener. The truth of this has probably flashed more than once on the minds of the monarchs and statesmen of Russia.

All this was true enough when uttered but it is by no means true to-day. Since Sebastopol fell, however blind before, Russia has discovered her "great mistake," and largely, if not completely, remedied it. Such a criticism cannot now lie against her. Fifteen years devoted with unswerving aim, and with unstinted expenditure of money and labor, to the work of internal improvement have prepared her to repel not only all attacks but to precipitate herself, southward, at least, with almost invincible force. Railroads, bridges, military roads, and all the appliances of warlike preparation and strategy have been made the business and the study of the ruling monarch during all these years. Not only have internal improvements been prosecuted to completion, but arms, and supplies, and men are all at hand in profuse abundance. While able to surpass any nation in Europe, perhaps, in the world, in the number of men available for war, she has for years been busy in preparing for them a perfect equipment, as American armories can vouch. It is doubted if any of the great Powers of the earth is so fully furnished for warlike work, and, considering the pressure of home affairs upon most of her rivals, and the indisposition of the rest to provoke the lasting wrath of such a nation, it need be no marvel if Russia should conclude that Turkey's extremity had become her own opportunity.

Very Important, if True

[From the New York Evening Mail, Feb 6]

The morning papers publish a little six line despatch from Panama which seems little likely to attract attention, and which certainly occasions no editorial comments by the papers wherein it appears, yet it contains one of the most important pieces of intelligence, so far as concerns Americans, that the newspapers have published for some time past. If the information contained in this despatch is correct, it concerns us far more than the issue of any great battle in France, or even the result of the coming French election.

As the despatch is so very brief, we give it in full, as follows:

Captain Selfridge, of the Darien expedition, writes from Paya, in the interior, on the 13th of January that he has discovered a route for a canal, the summit of which is but 300 feet above the ocean. The route commences near the mouth of the Atrato river.

If Captain Selfridge is not deceived as to the practicability of the route he has at length discovered, the United States Government, the people of this country, and mankind generally ought to celebrate the fortunate result of the arduous labors and investigations of the naval surveying party of which he is the chief. The Government will win deserved credit for the energy and liberality shown in the sending out of this expedition. Americans will rejoice that the two oceans are to be united by a canal built under our auspices and control, and all the world besides will have reason to thank American enterprise for having discovered a practicable route for a canal of a hundred fold greater importance than that whose opening last year drew the representatives of the great Powers to Suez.

The previous surveys of the Isthmus have been so barren of results that the announcement of final success will be received with natural distrust. All the expeditions that have hitherto been sent out have discovered a succession of obstacles to the building of a ship canal such as have appalled the most enterprising minds. So vast and insuperable have been the engineering difficulties disclosed by all the previous surveying parties on the Isthmus that we had settled down into despair of ever connecting the two oceans by that route. We shall await with anxiety the full intelligence as to Captain Selfridge's reported success, so unexpected and so important.

If the good news is confirmed, the American people will have at least two grand enterprises on hand, which will suffice to enlist their sympathies, to excite their emulation, and to furnish ample fields for the occupation of restless and enterprising spirits. With a Northern Pacific Railway and an Intercoceanic Canal to build, American enterprise will lose none of its zest, spirit or grandeur.

The manufacture of beet sugar promises to be a leading interest in California, says the Oakland Transcript. Already a number of farmers in Alameda valley have turned their attention to planting sugar beet.

A Justice of the Peace in Alameda county has issued to one man, certificates for 8 3[illegible]3 squirrel scalps. The animals were all killed by him in 1870.

Franklin J Hall is now confined in the Santa Clara county (Cal) jail on a charge of incest, committed with his own daughter.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN]

EASTERN DATES TO FEBRUARY 27.

The Final Terms of Peace.

PARIS via London, Feb 26 2 P M—The conclusion of peace is now certain. Thiers, Favre and the Consultation Committee have accepted the following conditions:

First—The cession of Alsace and Metz, but Belfort to be restored to France.

Second—The payment of a war indemnity of 5 000,000 francs.

Third—A portion of the French territory with some fortified towns like Sedan to remain in possession of the Germans until the conditions of the treaty are fulfilled.

Fourth—The German army to enter Paris on Monday and occupy the Champs Elysees.

Fifth—Peace to be proclaimed when the French Assembly ratifies these conditions.

Thiers and the delegation return to Bordeaux to day.

Probably an Unfounded Report.

LONDON, Feb 26—The Telegraph has a special from Amiens says that much uneasiness prevails there in consequence of the rumor that England has interfered in regard to Metz, declaring that the fortress should not be ceded to Germany.

Movement of Troops

HAVRE Feb 26—Five thousand troops with three batteries have arrived and fifteen thousand more are expected in case that hostilities are resumed.

LONDON, Feb 26—Passenger trains have commenced running between Dieppe and Paris.

Cannon Delivered Up.

VERSAILLES, Feb 26—The Moniteur of Friday states that 602 field pieces belonging to the army of Paris have been delivered up to the Germans and 135 cannon in good condition found in the forts.

The Germans will not March Through Paris.

LONDON, Feb 26—The English Government has moved at the last moment and persuaded the Germans to abandon the march through Paris. The troops will pass through open spaces on the south side of the city.

The Armistice.

BORDEAUX, Feb. 26, P. M—No news has been received relative to the settlement of preliminaries of peace or the prolongation of the armistice. It is believed that if the armistice is prolonged it will only be for a few hours.

Spanish Affairs.

LONDON, Feb 26—A difficulty has arisen between Spain and Egypt, caused by an insult offered to the clerk of the Spanish Consul at Cairo. It is reported that all the Spanish Consuls had quitted Egypt. The Madrid papers deny this, but say they have been instructed to do so. The Khedive has replied to the demand of Spain for satisfaction.

The Spanish Minister of Finance is resolved to make no attempt to raise funds until the meeting of the Cortes, with exception of issuing the French bonds, which were authorized by the last term of the Cortes.

Telegraphic Messages from France.

NEW YORK, Feb 26—Cyrus W Field has received the following telegram by cable:

The French administration of telegraphy give notice that telegraphic messages can be accepted throughout France, but decline responsibility for the invaded portion of the country.

Preliminaries of Peace Settled.

PARIS Feb 25 P M—The preliminaries peace were finally settled to day. The exact terms of peace are unknown, but are believed to be severe. Bismarck has been pitiless throughout the negotiations.

The Rappel says Thiers and Commissioners of the Assembly will probably go to Bordeaux Sunday to submit the conditions agreed upon to the Assembly. It is hoped they will be adopted and further prolongation of the armistice be unnecessary.

Thiers was at Versailles all day to day.

From Paris.

PARIS Feb 26.—The Siecle, referring to the recent message of President Grant to Congress, says it is incomprehensible how the President could compare the institutions of Germany and those of the United States, and the comparison must have surprised Bismarck himself.

A public demonstration was made on the 24th of February—the anniversary of the abdication of Louis Philippe.

Perfect tranquility prevails.

England and Greece

LONDON, Feb 26—A telegram from Athens announces that Eckstein, the British Minister, has communicated to the Greek Government a dispatch from Earl Granville contending that the investigation of the Marathon massacres is insufficient, and demanding fresh inquiry especially into the conduct of officials previously acquitted.

Difficulty between Spain and Egypt.

MADRID, Feb 25—The Spanish Government has sent to the Viceroy its ultimatum. The reply of the latter is unknown. Several European powers have offered mediation between Spain and Egypt.

The Prussian "Moniteur"

VERSAILLES, Feb 25—The Moniteur of Friday denounces the arrogance of the Parisian press as insulting to the victorious Germans, adding to their offenses by accusations of pillage and robbery. It significantly declares that the occupation of Paris will be the most efficacious means of stopping such foundless effrontery and falsehood, and that the entering of the troops is inevitable as soon as the armistice expires.

WASHINGTON CITY

The Pacific Railroads

WASHINGTON, Feb 26.—Stewart, in his report on the Pacific Railroad, says the cost of overland service for the whole period from the acquisition of our Pacific coast possessions down to the completion of the Pacific Railroad, was over eight millions per annum and constantly increasing. The cost since the completion of the road is five millions per annum. The amount of freight sent by other routes than the Pacific road last year, cost $165,000.

Sales of Gold Ordered

WASHINGTON, Feb 26.—The Secretary of the Treasury has directed the special Treasurer at New York to purchase two millions of bonds each Wednesday during March, being ten millions in all, and sell one million gold on the first, third and fifth Thursdays, and two millions on the second and fourth Thursdays, making seven millions in all.

British Vessels Seized

LASTPORT, M E, Feb 26—The British schooners Investigator and Grace were seized to day by the revenue cutter Vigilant for a violation of the coasting laws.

Great Britain, Baring Bros & Co London, A M Rothschild & Sons, London, Norton Race and Jay Cooke, McCulloch & Co, London. Germany, M A Rothschild & Sons, Frankfort. France, D Rothschild & Bros, Paris, Dr Ezel Heorges & Co, Paris. Holland, Hope & Co, Amsterdam, Becker & Field, Amsterdam. The District agents in the United States will soon be announced. 1,700 agencies have been tendered, including 75 private banking establishments. So far, 900 have accepted and 50 declined.

Flour for France.

NEW YORK Feb 26—The bark Mileas sailed yesterday for Havre with 10 264 barrels flour, and the the bark Hunter, with 3 817 barrels on board, contributed by A T Stewart, left on Friday for Queenstown.

The Sacramento Reporter, a staunch Democratic paper, says: "Governor Haight is put forward as a violent enemy of monopolies. Sacramento has long been groaning under an oppressive gas monopoly. By allowing another gas company to come into competition with the old company, under guarantee to supply gas about $3 per thousand cheaper than is now furnished by the monopoly. The Governor was so much in favor of the gas monopoly which now exists here, that he promptly vetoed the bill which provided for breaking it up, and for supplying cheaper gas to the people of Sacramento."

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN]

Steamship Subsidies

CHICAGO Feb 27—A Washington special says the steamship lobyists have given up all hope of getting any action on their schemes at this session. The vote in the Senate on Saturday tabling Williams' amendment to the postal appropriation bill which proposed to give $300,000 for a steamship line between San Francisco and Australia is regarded by them as conclusive evidence that the present temper of the Senate is hostile to their purpose. There is still one more chance, however as a motion is pending before the Senate on which a vote will be taken to morrow to lay on the table a proposition for annual increase of subsidy of $100 000 to the Pacific Mail Steamship Company. All independent bills of this character, including Kellogg's New Orleans and Mexican scheme which latter has passed the Senate, will have to wait for another Congress.

WASHINGTON, Feb 27—The Joint High Commission met this morning at the State Department. All of the United States Commissioners were present except Hoar, and all of the British Commissioners except Messrs MacDonald and Northcote. The proceedings were conducted secretly.

In the Senate, the Postoffice appropriation bill was considered, the question being on the motion to lay on the table the amendment of the Committee on Appropriations to increase the subsidy of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company to $1 000,000 per annum. The motion to lay on the table carried, ayes 32, nays 19.

The House resumed consideration of the omnibus appropriation bill. An item of $212 300 for Government officers and appraisers' stores at San Francisco was agreed to.

Further About the Joint High Commission.

NEW YORK Feb 27—A Washington dispatch to the Herald says a growing sentiment of apprehension as to the result of the High Commission prevails in that city. It is believed that Sir John McDonald is preparing his people for a great discount of their fishery demands. His announcement in the Dominion Parliament is regarded as an abandonment of the headland claim and his silence as to the presentation of the Canadian claims for Fenian raids is regarded equally significant. It is well understood that the British Government can present no claims against the United States with regard to Fenian raids, having repeatedly thanked our Government for its course in stopping these invasions. It would seem most likely that difficulties will commence outside of Canadian matters. There is no reason to believe that England is as yet prepared to recede from her position on the Alabama question, and there is therefore but little hope that an acceptable basis can be reached.

It says it is certain that the anxiety of those near the scene of famine is much more intense than ours, and we call with new earnestness upon the American public for immediate contributions in money and provisions and seed. Other cities or centers of collection desiring to co operate in this laudable relief movement can send their contributions to this committee which will carefully credit them to their sources from here in the report sent to France. If preferred, contributions can be forwarded direct to the American committee in London. Benjamin Moran, Chairman of the fund received by the United States will transfer by telegram. TUESDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 28, 1871.

San Juan Island.

The British Columbia Legislature has been discussing the San Juan question. A few days ago in that body the following preamble and resolution were reported and unanimously adopted:

> WHEREAS, The island of San Juan bears important relations to Canada and British Columbia, and, whereas, a Joint Commission has been appointed by Her Majesty's and by the Government of the United States, to settle all existing international difficulties:
> Resolved, That an humble address be presented to His Excellency the Governor, respectfully requesting that His Excellency will be pleased to represent to Her Majesty's Government, and also to the Canadian Government, the great importance of the island of San Juan to the Dominion of Canada as well as the undoubted claims of the Crown to the same, and recommend that the Hon. J. W. Trutch may be instructed to appear before the Commission on behalf of British Columbia for the purpose of supplying information and otherwise promoting the interests of the Colony in connection with this question, and also relating to the boundaries of the United States north of British Columbia.

In support of this resolution Dr. Helmcken made a long speech, in which he unfolded and attempted to establish the ideas on which the British claim to San Juan Island is founded. He asserted that possession of the island by British Columbia is necessary for the defense of the country, and denied that the Americans need it for the defense of their commerce or their territorial possessions. With much warmth the speaker said: "San Juan must not, cannot, be given up on any account."

Now this controversy is to be decided in accordance with the treaty of 1846; and so certain are the American people of their right to the island that they do not contemplate a possibility that their claim can be relinquished. The clause of the treaty on which our claim is founded is this:

> ...rom the point on the forty-ninth parallel of ...atitude where the boundary laid down in ...ng treaties and conventions between the ...nited States and Great Britain terminates, the line of boundary between the territories of the United States and those of her Britannic Majesty shall be continued westward along the said forty-ninth ... north latitude to the middle of the channel which separates the continent from Vancouver's Island, and thence southerly through the middle of the said channel and of Fuca Straits to the Pacific Ocean.

The United States claim that the "said channel" is the Canal de Haro; the British claim that it is Rosario Strait. Accurate surveys have been made of both, and the surveys demonstrated beyond question that the former is both the wider and deeper one. It is therefore the main channel. Indeed, the ... of the British Columbian Legislature who moved the resolution above stated, actually admitted this fact in his speech in support of it, by remarking that "the Haro channel is a practicable one, though possessing many disadvantages, such as fewer anchor-... and much deeper water than the Rosario ... Pray, then, why is not the Canal de Haro the channel?" Here is British authority actually conceding our right to San Juan Island.

Besides the greater width and depth of the Canal de Haro, it is a much shorter communication than Rosario Strait, between the ... of Georgia and the Pacific Ocean. It ... undoubtedly the navigable channel which, at its position, separates Vancouver's Island from the continent, and having the largest volume of water passing through it, there should be no question whatever as to its being the boundary intended and designated in the treaty. That the Senate of the ... States so understood it when the ... was ratified by that body is plain from the speeches of Mr. Benton and other prominent Senators. Benton, in describing the ..., "When the line reaches the channel which separates Vancouver's Island from the continent, it proceeds to the middle of the channel, and thence turning south through the channel de Haro to the Straits of ... and then west, through the middle of ... strait, to the sea." This was the understanding which the United States had of the treaty when it was agreed upon, and at that time no other interpretation was deemed possible.

The commercial importance of our northwest coast, which is to be realized in the not distant future through the construction of the Northern Pacific Railroad and through other agencies, will make it impossible for us, if we exercise the smallest degree of prudence or regard for the future, to relinquish our claim as to the northwest boundary. Inasmuch as British Columbia deems it important to her interests to send a person to Washington to urge the members of the High Commission on the part of Great Britain to push the pretended and unfounded claim in regard to the boundary, which was set up by that country some ten or twelve years after the treaty of 1846 was ratified, it is of the highest consequence that the Commissioners on the part of the United States should be vigilant in the matter, and take a firm and decided position in behalf of the claim of the United States. And the matter should now be brought to a settlement without further delay; the joint military occupation of San Juan Island should be terminated, and the true intent of the treaty of 1846 carried out. Great Britain has wrongful acts enough to answer for to the United States without pushing this unfounded and irritating claim.

The Democratic Position Defined at Last.

We don't know that the Herald, in its efforts to establish the theory that this Government of ours is simply a league, the result of a compact between States, could do better than to quote Alexander H. Stephens, whose interpretation of the nature of our Government agrees, it says, precisely with its own. Then of course it holds that the rebel Vice President was on the right side during the four years' war. The Herald at this late day endorses in full every doctrine for which the rebels contended; it holds that their interpretation of the nature of the Government was the true one, and by consequence that they were entirely justified in seceding from the Union and fighting to maintain a separate political existence. And this, it says, is the present doctrine of the Democratic party. It goes further in this direction than the worst Copperhead dared to go in time of war. Stephens and his associates assumed to withdraw from the Union, and attempted to justify their action by their much vaunted "State compact" theory. The organ of the Oregon Democracy says that their views on the subject were entirely right, and it quotes them at length to show that those views agree precisely with its own, and with the doctrines of the Democratic party. What Democrat who accepts the Herald as his organ will ever again deny that secession is a Democratic principle, and in fact the only leading principle of the party? The organ has got down to "bed-rock Democracy" at last. Now that it distinctly and emphatically avows the doctrine of secession and declares it a Democratic principle, we know just where to find it. As this is to be the basis of future contests between the two political parties no one can misunderstand the issue. We are ready for the contest on this ground.

Five thousand millions of francs,—one thousand millions of dollars,—is the war indemnity that France is forced to pay. This is too heavy an exaction. Germany rightfully takes territory enough to give her a better and more defensible frontier, and having that, she should be content with a smaller sum of money than the above named prodigious sum. Whether France can pay it remains to be seen. It will raise her national debt to the appalling figure of five thousand millions of dollars. No other people on earth has ever had to carry so great a burden. France, indeed, is an object for the pity of the world. Her sins have been great; but what country ever suffered so grievously for its sins? One thing seems pretty evident. France cannot soon pay such a sum of money as is required of her, and it is quite probable that the German soldiery may therefore hold the country for many years.

A brilliant genius is the present Attorney General of the United States. He has delivered a solemn opinion to the effect that the grant of lands to the "Oregon Central Railroad Company, their successors and assigns," implies that the said Company can have no successors or assigns, and that the grant therefore cannot be transferred! Such a genius will doubless do much to rescue a noble profession from the low condition to which it has been sunk in these latter times by the lack of learning and legal acumen among its members. But it is to be feared that the Attorney General will never be able to bring any Court, except that of the learned Justice Dogberry, to accept his admirable methods of reasoning and his conclusions therefrom. Therefore we anticipate that the transfer of the Oregon land grant will hold good, after all.

Agents to negotiate the new national loan are being appointed. This loan will be placed upon the market on the 6th of March. It is in three classes—the first, of five hundred million dollars to bear five per cent. coin interest; the second, of three hundred million dollars to bear coin interest at the rate of four and one half per cent., and the third, of seven hundred million dollars, interest at four per cent. in coin. If these bonds are taken up, the saving in interest, and the increase in income, will accelerate the liquidation of the debt. The policy will probably be to take advantage of the limitation of interest to reduce the volume of debt. In this event, two hundred million dollars can be paid yearly, with no greater strain on the country than is now felt in liquidating one hundred million dollars yearly.

OREGON.

The concert at Eugene City for the benefit of the Baptist Church Society yielded $145 50.

The Farmer is out in an enlarged form on new type, and its appearance everyway is greatly improved.

Some one is amusing himself and the Farmer's readers by furnishing, for the columns of that paper a series of literal translations from Virgil's Georgics. We wish he would give the original, then the literal translation, and then the easy-flowing version of Dryden. We should then have poetry and precept together.

A patent pruning implement, which combines the shears and compound lever principle, with oval blade, has been introduced at Eugene City. The implement is about five feet long and weighs eight pounds. It is said to work remarkably well. Twigs and branches are clipped from trees with great rapidity, and the work is done much more smoothly than with a saw.

The Horticultural Society of this State propose to have a horticultural exhibition and fair in Portland some time in June. It is expected to be in the season when flowers and small fruits are in perfection. It is anticipated that fruit growers in Portland and its vicinity will bring for exhibition their best fruits, and the Society will rely on the ladies everywhere to furnish the flowers and floral ornaments, which will greatly contribute to the success of the exhibition. We quote from the Farmer.

E. L. Applegate is delivering a series of lectures at Eugene City. Some of his themes are the following: "Sectarianism; Its Providential Institution and Effects on the Progress of the Mind." —"Religion; Natural and Revealed."—"A New Theory of Cosmos, or the Cosmography of Creation, and Man the Microcosm."—We suggest the following for the next theme, viz: "Entitled, or the Mental and Moral Elaboration of Individualism, and the Development of the Doctrine and Discipline of Human Responsibility." We are certain our metaphysical friend could do this subject justice, also.

THE TERRITORIES.

The yield of the Golden Chariot mine at Owyhee during the month of January was $136,491.

There is an organization at Silver City, Owyhee, called the "Mackerel Club." It seems to be something like the Merry Bachelor's Club at Olympia.

The Boise Statesman continues to urge that all the communities lying in the great basin between the Rocky mountains and the Cascade and Sierra Nevada ranges, should be organized together in a single State government. It urges that the geological location of the country, the industries of the people, and their general interests are harmonious. This is a good suggestion, and is entitled to candid consideration.

A correspondent of the Utah Reporter, writing from Ophir City, under date of February 11th, states that times are very lively there. They have a goodly supply of saloons and tigers, which are the accessories of Western civilization, and the evidence of prosperity. The miners there have been troubled by the scientific nomenclature of the ores, such as "Bromide, iodide, chloride," etc., so have simplified by naming them according to color, thus: "The yellow-ide, blue ide, and green ide," and so on.

We hear that settlers in the vicinity of Colville, W. T., are much alarmed at the order which has been issued for the abandonment of that post by the military. In that region there are large numbers of Indians who have never been treated with or placed on Reservations, and the presence of troops in that quarter has long been deemed essential to the peaceful occupation of the country by the whites. It is feared that as soon as the troops are withdrawn it will no longer be safe for whites to remain, and many express their determination to leave. A considerable sacrifice of property will be incurred in that event. The troops, it would appear, ought to be retained, long enough at any rate to enable the people to close up their affairs for departure, if necessary. Therefore the people are anxious that the order for removal of the soldiers should be suspended for a few months, at all events.

Adjusting Our Boundaries.

The Mountain Democrat, published at La Grande, contains an article giving an expression of its views in regard to the proposed division of Oregon by the line of the Cascade Mountains. We quote.

> A few years ago the question of forming a State, the boundary lines of which were to comprise eastern Oregon and eastern Washington Territory, was a theme upon which many speculated, and not a few endorsed. Upon the theory that "coming events cast their shadows before," we venture the opinion, now made altogether probable by a growing disposition on the part of the people of eastern and western Oregon to sever the political ties that bind them together, that the agitation of the subject then was only the commencement of greater results that would have their consummation in the dismemberment of the State of Oregon, as at present constituted, and the formation of another State, wherein the tastes of the people would be more harmonious, and their wants adapted to their geographical position.
>
> The present utterances of the press of Western Oregon, and the evinced intention of the people of that portion of the State to disregard the demands and wants of Eastern Oregon, clearly exhibits that there is no consanguinity between the two sections, and the fact that each year demonstrates that this want of good feeling is becoming greater, and the political ties that should bind them together more widely separated, also furnishes conclusive evidence that so soon as the country becomes sufficiently populated to develop the resources that slumber in our mountains and valleys, a movement will be made to accomplish that which time has already proven to be the best for the people of both sections. This spirit is made evident in the halls of the Legislature; in the press, when descriptions of the State are given, in the remarks of private individuals, when terming it an out-of-the-way place; and so far is this idea carried, that Eastern Oregon does not, in fact, help help comprise the State, except in the matter of taxes, and in this materially.
>
> The sentiment of the people East of the Cascades is none the less so, regarding those west of what should be the boundary line. They experience a greater affinity with the people of Eastern Washington and Idaho than they do with Western Oregon. They do not consider Western Oregon only in the light of an enemy; and they are correct in this regard, so far as matters of legislation are concerned. We have only received what Western Oregon chose to give us—that and nothing more.
>
> Under these circumstances it would be far better for our people to secede from an organization that is to them a detriment, and, instead of hanging longer to that which is a drawback, to affiliate with Eastern Washington and Idaho. In such an event they would be associated with a people that would agree with them in sentiment and purpose. The passage of any law by the Legislature of a State so organized would be beneficial to all communities, and unlike those heretofore enacted by the Oregon Legislature, their beneficial influences would be experienced by the people in general.
>
> In taking the position we do upon this question, we but speak the sentiments of two-thirds of the people of Eastern Oregon, and we are not disposed to further forbear an outspoken advocacy of that which the present points to and the future will demonstrate as a benefit and a blessing to our people.

From Circular of the State Normal Board of Minnesota.

"The importance of a correct and careful training of the voice, both in singing and speaking, can scarcely be over estimated. Probably thousands of our public speakers and singers are at the present time injuring themselves by a wrong use of the vocal organs. This is the inevitable result of a false system of training. Impressed with this fact, the Board has united the departments of Vocal Music, Elocution and Physical Culture under the more comprehensive designation of the Department of Vocal and Physical Culture, and has placed at its head Professor J. B. McGIBENY, one of the most accomplished instructors in this field, to be found in the country. Under his thorough and philosophical system of training the Board confidently expects to inaugurate a much needed reform in this important branch of education in the State. This training alone will more than justify the expense of the entire Normal course."

From Hon. Marlow H. Donnell, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, in his report to the Legislature of Minnesota:

"PROF. McGIBENY's eminent success in the State Normal School, stamps him master of his profession."

From Dr. Youman, of New York city:

"We regard these exercises of the highest value in gaining and retaining strength and symmetry of body, and vigor and elasticity of mind. Under Prof McGibeny's skillful leadership they indeed work wonders."

From Gen. J. W. Sprague, Director of North Pacific Railroad:

PORTLAND, Oregon, February 23, 1871

PROF J B McGIBENY, now of this city, was formerly two years P... of M... in the State Normal School at Winona Minnesota, (an Institution of high rank among the places of learning in the East). During that term it was my privilege to have sons under the tuition of himself and wife, who assisted him. Both are regarded as possessing rare qualities for teaching, and their efforts were highly appreciated by all who knew them; and by their high social and moral qualities they won and have retained the friendship of all who knew them. I cordially commend PROFESSOR and MRS. McGIBENY as eminently worthy of the confidence and patronage of all.

REV. P. S KNIGHT, Salem .... March 7.

Tickets for the Course, $2 00; Single Tickets, 50 cents

THE FIFTH LECTURE OF THE COURSE WILL be delivered by

COL. B. S. PARDEE,

Of Olympia,

On Tuesday Even'g, Feb. 28, 1871,

At 7½ o'clock.

Subject—"Picked up Fish;" an old-fashioned homely dish, possessing Political Importance and a National History. What good does, and what broils may, come of it.

Colonel Pardee is well known as a popular Lecturer, and those who heard him last winter will testify that he deserves the high reputation he has won.

He has chosen a subject decidedly piscatorial, and were it not for its avowed dryness, we should incline to the belief that he intends giving his hearers an essay on "Desiccated Cod." We are certain, however, that it will be a savory dish—well seasoned, pungent, racy—and, although it may possess an English flavor, yet it will be served up in true American style.

THE VIEUXTEMPS BROTHERS

Have kindly volunteered to furnish music on the evening of each lecture.

CITY.

Up-River Items.—Our friend continueth his up river items as follows:

At Eugene City the lecture season is in full blast. Hon. E. L. Applegate is advertised for six lectures, three of which he has already delivered, all for the laudable purpose of aiding the I. O. O. F. society to pay off claims on their hall.

On the evening of the 22d inst. amateur performers at Eugene City rendered the play of "Rough Diamond," and "Box and Cox" to a crowded audience—proceeds to the Baptist church.

Citizens here are looking for one or two railroads within the next year or two which will infuse new life into every avenue of trade. There are numerous evidences of improvement within the past year, and were they certain both railroads would be built through the town, business would receive a new impetus. One of the notable features about Eugene is its combination of climate and products which give it the palm as the Paradise of Frenchmen—there are frogs everywhere, around, in and under the houses and in the ponds, and they get up the most immense concerts and choruses, free, every night. What is more singular, there is only one Frenchman in the city and he is getting discouraged.

Hon. E. L. Applegate proposes to visit Portland in about two weeks, and may accept an urgent invitation to deliver one or more lectures to our citizens.

Springfield, on the east bank of the Wallamet, three and a half miles east of Eugene, and fifteen miles south of Harrisburg, is a thriving place. It is the seat of the Springfield Manufacturing Co.'s mills, one for lumber, with capacity to cut 10,000 feet per day, and the other a flouring mill of sufficient size to grind 100 bbls per day. This season they propose to make numerous improvements, among which are three new churches, one academy, store, etc. The valley here is narrowed down to something over one mile, and they feel satisfied that the railroad cannot miss them far. Beyond, the valley widens. This company was inaugurated in 1866, and by means of a race from the McKenzie and Turbine wheels, they drive their mills. Here is the terminus of the Oregon and Big Bend Railroad (proposed), and the terminus also of the Military Wagon Road to the south country, over which the United States Government propose to let a mail service from Eugene to Winnemucca, Nevada. But the events and acts of Springfield and Eugene, are they not written in the chronicles of Elisha?

"Consideration, $1 00.—It will strike persons who have read the reports of real estate transactions, as singular that a considerable part of all the deeds recorded of late express the consideration of only "$1 00." It is, of course, nobody's business what consideration the contracting parties agree to put into a deed of transfer—whether the real amount paid, or a fictitious sum and we should never mention it, but for the fact that one of the principal reasons for publishing the record of transfers is to furnish readers with the means of knowing how much the real estate investments amount to. It is, somewhat doubtful whether this reason is weighty enough to compensate for the trouble of procuring the record and publishing it; and but for a desire expressed by a great number of readers, that such a record should be published daily or weekly, it is doubtful if any of the papers would have ever undertaken the job. We can say for one that it was wholly in response to such requests that we undertook to do it. Now having consented to furnish the record from day to day, we find that many of the very persons who were so anxious to have it for the purpose of knowing what real estate was sold, to whom, by whom, when and for how much, are the ones who put fictitious considerations in their deeds. Again, we say, it is none of our business; but we can't see the use of a record that, after all, is only a partial record. For statistical purposes it is totally worthless.

A Nick in the Abstract.—The Farmer, by way of extolling the arts of husbandry, reminds us that Robert Burns was a plowman. Yes, he was; but we reckon it's a mistake to suppose he was enamored of the business. "His plow oft the stubborn glebe has broke," reads pretty especially in the estimation of the man who don't have to follow the plow. We are all charmed with the business of plowing, mowing, etc., when we think of other people following the furrow or swinging the scythe. John Bunyan was a tinker, but he didn't hanker after his trade, but went to composing allegories. So Washington was a surveyor, but he didn't achieve much distinction till he quit the business. Diocletian, after he abdicated the infernal purple went to raising cabbage and killing grub worms; but it's an error to suppose he liked it. He simply did it to be eccentric and to get a puff in Gibbon's Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire.

New Mines Discovered in Eastern Oregon.—Capt. J. H. Fisk showed us last evening a couple of letters from Baker City, dated Feb. 19th and 20th, which gives accounts of very rich discoveries of silver leads on Burnt river, between Miller's station and Old's Ferry. The ledge of which particular mention is made was discovered by the stage driver who drives on that part of the route. There is great excitement at Baker City, and many are going up to look for feet. One of the parties interested had melted three ounces of rock from which was obtained six cents worth of pure silver. The ledge is considered richer than anything ever discovered outside of White Pine. Capt. Fisk who has an interest, will start for Burnt river in two or three days. The same letters give some account, too, of late discoveries of gold bearing quartz.

Collision.—We learn that a collision occurred on one of the switch tracks at Albany on Saturday. We learn that the fireman being left in charge of the locomotive attempted the process of shifting cars by means of switching off and on the main track. Having got under headway, with a train in order to give the rear cars impetus to run some distance after being uncoupled, the locomotive was switched off, running of course at considerable speed. The fireman didn't shut off steam and put on brakes quick enough, and the locomotive collided with a box car standing on the switch with sufficient force to break the latter considerably, and to knock the locomotive's head "galley west." Nobody hurt—the only damage being to property.

Kalama.—If we may believe all the reports from Kalama-in-Wilderness, improvements are going on apace. It is now said that the R. R. Co. has driven the piles for 400 feet of wharf ready for the caps; that the saw-mill frame has been raised and that the machinery will shortly be put in; that new buildings for business are multiplying rapidly; that there would be more buildings erected if timber could be procured as fast as wanted, etc., etc.

The German Fair.—The presents to the German Patriotic Aid Association are becoming decidedly numerous at Alisky & Hegele's—the number being now up among the hundreds. Among the valuable and handsome contributions since our last mention, is an elegant chased silver tea-set by Mr. Henrichsen. Several additions were made to the assortment yesterday. The prospects are very favorable for a successful fair Wednesday evening.

Street Cleaning.—Our streets had got in such a fashion of becoming muddy and in various other ways filthy, that our city Fathers found it necessary to promulgate a new ordinance on the subject. The text will be found in the proper place in our columns this morning; and as its provisions are a little binding on such as fail to respect them, we advise all to read them attentively and take warning.

Beth Israel School.—The Beth Israel school will be reopened next Wednesday, March 1st, under the superintendence of Mrs. Phelps, formerly of the Portland Academy. As but a limited number of pupils will be admitted to this favorite school, and the number is nearly completed, parents desirous of sending their children would do well to make early application.

Flour Shipment to South America.—The bark Stella has completed her cargo of flour for Rio Janeiro, South America, and will sail probably in a day or two. She has on board 7,303 half sacks, 5,400 qr sacks flour, valued at $32,-589 75, and 435 bbls in wood, valued at $2,817,-50; total valuation, $35,327 25.

"Removing the Deposits."—The National Bank people were engaged yesterday in removing their safes, furniture, etc., from their old rooms between Stark and Washington, to Corbett's new building above Washington. The new quarters will be very comfortable and elegant when fully fitted up.

Messages Uncalled For.—There are messages in the Western Union Telegraph Office for H. L. Ladd and John Alexander.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Minstrels.—There was a rather thin house at Oro Fino last night, to see the Nickerson Minstrels. Charley Nickerson, the chief of the troop, will take a benefit to-night.

Lecture.—Col. B. S. Pardee of Olympia, will deliver the fifth lecture of the Y. M. C. Association's course, this evening at Philharmonic Hall. His subject will be "Picked up Fish—an old fashioned, homely dish, possessing political importance and a National history; what good does, and what broils may, come of it."

The Railroad Future.—On Thursday evening next Col. W. W. Chapman will deliver a public address at the Court House. His subject will be, "Portland, Kalama, Duluth, Omaha and the Railroad Situation." Perhaps no one among us has devoted so much time and labor to an investigation of the "railroad situation" as Col. Chapman. His address will be awaited with much interest.

Delayed.—The steamers Geo. S. Wright, from Sitka, and the California, from Puget Sound, are both overdue. They have probably been detained by rough weather. The Columbia bar has been rough for ten days with but little intermission.

Reception.—There will be a meeting for social intercourse at the Unitarian Church this evening at 8 o'clock. Parishioners and friends are invited to meet Rev. Mr. Kimball, of Massachusetts.

Shipping Items.—The brig Madawaska was towed down the river yesterday morning by the steamer for Astoria.

The bark Whistler has now on board about 650 tons produce for San Francisco. She will take about 124 tons more and then leave port.

The New and Valuable Improvement in Securing Dental Fillings—Patent applied for in January, A. D. 1871—is used only by the inventor, Dr. C. H. Mack, Office of Mack & Welch, in the Odd Fellows' Building, Portland.

Tea.—The best quality of Young Hyson, Gunpowder and Orange, of direct importation can be had at C. M. Martin's Grocery Store on First street.

Also, Maple Sugar direct from New England
German Herring, and other kinds of Fish, fresh, salt and dried.
Italian Chestnuts and all sorts of nuts.
Oranges, Lemons and all fruits of the season.
Hams, Poultry and Game.
Fresh Eggs, Butter and Vegetables and all kinds of Family Groceries at the most reasonable prices, delivered in any part of the city upon short notice.

Barbour's Linen Thread is nicely put up in boxes, and with special reference to the Retail Trade, so that all numbers may be sold at one price.

Barbour's Carpet Thread is unequalled for strength and evenness of thread. Try it and be convinced of its superior qualities.

Sea Moss Farine from pure Irish Moss, for Blanc Mange, Puddings, Custards, Creams, &c., &c. The cheapest, healthiest and most delicious food in the world.

Remittent Fevers—The Way to Escape Them.—A dose of Plantation Bitters, taken night and morning, will enable the system to repel the deleterious influence of these fruitful sources of epidemic disease. It is in evidence that in many instances where the greater portion of the population of an entire settlement have been prostrated by bilious remittent fevers, the few who have had sufficient forecast to take the Bitters as a preventive, have escaped the scourge. As a remedy after an attack has actually commenced, this celebrated tonic and antibilious elixir is invariably efficacious. In such cases, if taken when the fever is off, it will soon control the paroxysms, and when the patient is convalescent, it will restore the appetite and recruit the strength more rapidly than any other stomachic and invigorant in use.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is truly a balsam. It contains the balsamic principle of the Wild Cherry, the balsamic properties of tar and pine. Its ingredients are all balsamic. Coughs, Colds and Consumption disappear rapidly under its balsamic influence.

A Chapter of Facts

Space is valuable in a newspaper, and it is therefore proposed in this advertisement to condense a variety of facts, important to the public, into a small compass. These facts refer to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters—what that celebrated medicine is, and what it will do. In the first place, then, the article is a stimulant, tonic and alterative, consisting of a combination of an absolutely pure spirituous agent with the most valuable medicinal vegetable substances that Botanic research has placed at the disposal of the chemist and the physician. These ingredients are compounded with great care, and in such proportions as to produce a preparation which invigorates without exciting the general system, and tones, regulates and controls the stomach, the bowels, the liver and the minor secretive organs.

What this great restorative will do must be gathered from what it has done. The case of dyspepsia, or any other form of indigestion, in which it has been persistently administered without effecting a radical cure, is yet to be heard from, and the same may be said of bilious disorders, intermittent fever, nervous affections, general debility, constipation, sick headache, mental disabilities to which the feeble are so subject. It purifies all the fluids of the body, including the blood, and the gentle stimulus which it imparts to the nervous system is not succeeded by the slightest reaction. This is a chapter of facts which readers, for their own sakes, should mark and remember.

Looking on Both Sides.

A LIVELY COMMERCIAL YARN.

The Boston Commercial Bulletin, tells this story

'Much is said to those whose prospects are under a cloud, or who have met with disappointment in life, of the necessity of looking on the bright side No doubt this necessity exists as there are people who persist in looking at only one side, and that generally the least attractive An amusing illustration of the advantage and necessity of looking at both sides has just come to our knowledge

"As every one is aware, the failures in business that have occurred at the opening of the year have made all business men keenly alive to every report or rumor affecting mercantile credit, while the losses of some firms by shrinkage of values and the misfortunes of customers have caused them to look after all available means pretty sharply A firm of this class which had been prospecting as to how to make every dollar possible, the other day had an interview with a responsible customer of large standing, with regard to the latter's discounting his own paper, which they held to quite a large amount. The transaction was nearly concluded, but left quiet for a day or two by the firm in question—not wishing to press too hard in a quarter where they expected to realize so favorably, then one of the partners found, to his consternation, on going to the merchant's counting room, that he had left very suddenly for the West the day before

A council of partners was immediately ... How should the money be raised? In ... of the letters just arrived by the ... from the West were passed in, among ... one bearing the absent merchant's ... known chirography was detected

... exclaimed one of the trio, 'here's ... thing from old Bulge, but what the deuce ... going at Erie?' added he, gla...ing at the ...mark of the epistle, 'let me see'

... etter as opened, and the partner ... proceeded to read as follows

... "AM YOU DE MAN WHAT WANTS A NUSS?"—In Sunday's issue of the Call, James Gamble, of the Western Union Telegraph Company, advertised for a competent man to take charge of a nursery in Alameda county Bright and early yesterday morning, a "Fifteenth Amendment," standing about six feet four inches in his stocking feet, and as thin as a fence rail, entered the telegraph office, and, after looking carefully around, asked for Gamble He was directed to where that gentleman was seated and when he found him he said "Good morning, am you de man what wants a nus'" "A what?" queried Gamble. "A nus' a nus' of course, am you de man what advertised in de paper for a nus to go to Alameda'" "You have made a mistake,' said Gamble, 'what I want is a man to take charge of a nursery—a place for propagating plants 'Now look a hea you can't fool me," said the sable applicant "I knows what a nurse ry is, dat am a place whar dey raise babies Now, if you want a good nus, why jest say so, dat's all' He was informed that his services were not required, and left, muttering some thing to the effect that people, when they advertise, ought to say what they mean —S F Call, Feb 16th

CALIFORNIA AND NEVADA

The Nevada Assembly has a bill before it to fix the salary of the Governor at $6000 Rather grand for a community of 42 000 people

The Haightites in San Francisco refuse to bet on his renomination, or even that his name will go before the Democratic Convention, but inti mate that he will run independent.

The Legislature of Nevada memorialized Con gress to regulate the way fares and freight on the Central Pacific Railroad. They also desire that Chinese be prevented from working in the branch mint at Carson.

From the Yreka Journal A young soldier named Bartley, who has been carrying the mail from Fort Klamath to Yreka, on leaving for the Fort last week got as far as Ager's, on Willow creek, where he left his mail bags and express matter and started for Oregon Word was sent to the Fort, and Captain Goodale dispatched the Sergeant in search of the mail matter, and to catch the deserter if possible He had a large lot of goods from Raynes & Pyle and other mer chants, to sell on commission, most of which were recovered. Raynes & Pylo secured all their goods except about $80 worth of gold and silver chains The mails were not tampered with, and it does not appear that the runaway has abscond ed with much money, unless it be from parties at the Fort, outside of Government business He brought in a large amount of money in the mail, which was delivered, and may have been en trusted with a large amount outside of the mail, which he did not pay over, intending to leave by making a false start back towards Fort Klamath The runaway has been seen at Ashland and at Grave creek, in Oregon, and the Postmaster here having been authorized by Captain Goodale to telegraph for his arrest, the prospects are he will soon be on his way back to the Fort, together with a good horse he took with him, belonging to Jack Davis

OR

OREGON RHEUMATIC CURE.

HISTORY

THIS REMEDY IS COMPOSED OF THE ACTIVE principle of the Unk Weed Eng —Thaspium Cor datum, Originis, Lat —Indigenous to Oregon—Grows most abundantly and perfectly in Washington county

PROPERTIES, &c:

It contains an active volatile principle extracted by Ether, and a bitter Tonic principle.

Medical Properties and Uses:

It is the most Sure and Speedy Cure for Rheumatism, Rheumatic Gout and Rheumatic Pains of all kinds that has ever been introduced in the Materia Medica The Unk Weed Remedy as prepared by us in consequence of the existing bitter principle, possesses the necessary vir tue of being a POWERFUL TONIC!

Promoting the Appetite and Invigorating the whole Di gestive Apparatus, thus building and strengthening the system, while at the same time the volatile principle be ing absorbed in the blood, acts specifically on the Rheum atic Poison, removing it from the circulation and system

There are few remedies known to the Medical profes sion, which will remove the Rheumatic poison from the blood, but whose action is so powerful in depressing the system of the already enfeebled Rheumatic patient, that their use has to be abandoned before specific effects are obtainable Hence the want of success in treating this prevalent and in consequence, heretofore incurable dis ease Unlike these Medicines already known the

"Unk Weed Remedy"

Though producing as powerful and as active effects on the blood and system in removing the Rheumatic Poison, also possesses a strong Tonic and recuperating element, which admits of its continued use even in the most deli cate and debilitated Thus we have the combination for the first time of these two necessary elements in the one remedy, which accounts for its superior and never failing curative effects in
